Chicago-Kent College of Law, in partnership with the Law School Admission Council's (LSAC) DiscoverLaw.org Outreach Initiative, invites you to be "lawyers for a day". Once you register (if you have not done so already), you will be given an actual problem to review and analyze prior to attending the program. When you arrive on March 17th you will meet your legal team. Your team will get a trial overview, skills and instructions and then break away to prepare for your own arguments. You will be assigned to argue either as the prosecution or the defense. Once your team has prepared its arguments, you will argue your case in front of licensed attorneys in one of Chicago-Kent's courtrooms. You will receive feedback, and you may win a prize. This program is open to high school students interested in pursuing law and returning participants from our program on March 3. This event is free and lunch will be provided.
