

REGISTRATION AS A JD/LLM IN FAMILY LAW STUDENT

J.D. students may enroll in the Program after completion of the first year of the J.D. program. To enroll, students must receive the permission of the Faculty Coordinator for the LL.M. Program in Family Law.

While a J.D. student, the joint degree candidate may take no more than twelve LL.M. credits, which will count toward the hours required for the J.D. degree. A student is not permitted to take more than twelve LL.M. credits prior to earning the J.D. degree, even if the student does not intend to count the additional courses for J.D. credit. Joint degree students may not fulfill the Externship and Independent Research requirements until after receiving the J.D. Grades received in LL.M. courses are counted in the student's J.D. grade point average. An LL.M. course may not be taken on a pass/fail basis. Tuition for LL.M. courses will be charged at the J.D. rate until the J.D. degree is received.

After earning the J.D. degree, the student will take additional LL.M. courses on a full-time basis until twenty-four LL.M credits have been successfully completed, including the LL.M. courses taken while a J.D. student. To receive the LL.M. degree, the student must complete the twenty-four LL.M. family law credits and must attain a cumulative GPA of at least 2.500 for all LL.M. courses taken, including those taken while a J.D. student.

A student will not receive credit toward the LL.M. degree for J.D. courses taken.
