Students taking Strategic Problem-Solving and the Law (see next page) may take a regular Summer load of up to 6 credits in addition to that class. Any student taking more than 6 credits under one of these exceptions should contact Dean Sowle so that your maximum credit limit can be adjusted in the registration system. A course fee of $350, in addition to regular tuition, will be charged to full-time students for regular classroom courses taken during the Summer term, including any courses taken through our exchange programs with DePaul, Loyola, John Marshall, and including classes taken through other ABA-accredited schools. The fee does not apply to part-time students; it also does not apply (for any student) to clinical courses, externships, or Independent Research credits pursued at Chicago-Kent; and it does not apply to courses taken through Chicago-Kent exchange programs with universities abroad. Please note that the fee applies to both parts of Evidence and the Art of Advocacy (i.e., it will be charged for the Evidence component and also for the Trial Advocacy component). If you qualify for financial aid loans, those can be used to cover the cost of the fee. See the Registration Bulletin for credit requirements and other information relating to federal and private financial aid loans for the Summer term.
